

TOP REASONS TO BE AN APBP MEMBER

- On-call network of engaged, passionate practitioners from across North America who care about increasing accessibility and availability of active transportation through a vibrant member community
- Access to trends, news, and best practices to make you a thought leader in your community and the larger industry
- Guidance and support from policy statements on topics relevant to your work which lends an authoritative voice from the professional association for practitioners
- A collective voice on governmental issues that affect biking and walking
- A front row seat to the dissection of technical issues to help you work smarter, not harder
- Opportunities for professional development that share actual projects, working examples, and lessons learned to increase your knowledge and hone your skills
- Association with colleagues who recognize that the built environment has been designed in ways that both reflect and signal racism and are taking action to fight racism and center equity in our work
- Ability to participate in chapters and serve on committees to connect with colleagues, provide leadership development, and advance the association
